THE UNSUNG HEROINE BEHIND THE NEW DEAL

Part two of a historical portrayal of Frances Perkins by Janet Parnes

BLACKSTONE PUBLIC LIBRARY

86 Main Street Blackstone, MA, 01504
508-883-1931

Frances Perkins shares the trials, trip-ups, and triumphs that characterize her time as the country's first female cabinet secretary (Secretary of Labor) and beyond to the final years of her life. Gain insights into some of the many reasons Frances Perkins is referred to as one of the most influential women of the first half of the 20th century.

Janet Parnes has been delighting audiences with her portrayals of underappreciated American women (and events) for over 15 years. She has performed at the Massachusetts State House, the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library & Museum, the Longfellow's Wayside Inn, and numerous other libraries, senior centers, schools, and museums.

This program is intended for adults. Registration is required. Visit our Events Page.

Funded by a generous donation from the
