21st Century Global Migration and Global Trade - February 6

The Camden Conference and Kennebunk Free Library will host Kathleen Sutherland on Monday, February 6 at 6:00 p.m. Sutherland will be discussing 21st Century Global Migration and Global Trade.

This discussion is a companion to John Sutherland's January 30 discussion: Immigration to America During the Industrial Age. Migration is caused by people searching for a better material life and safety. What is the effect of this migration process on global trade? We look at the late Twentieth and Twenty First Century picture and in particular the impact of increased migration to the U.S. from Africa, Asia, and Latin America. Discussion will also include the economic impact of migration from Asia and Africa to Europe.

Kathleen Howard Sutherland (Ph.D. Indiana University) is Associate Professor Emerita of Political Science at Bowling Green State University. She teaches at the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at the University of Southern Maine. She presented a paper on Somali and Sudanese refugees at the Middle East Studies Association Annual Meeting.

In Stitches - February 7, 14, 21, 28

Do you love to knit? Crochet? Sew? Have you always wanted to learn? Do you have an unfinished project hidden on the closet shelf? Then join us every Tuesday at 11:00 for "In Stitches", our weekly handicrafts group! Grab that half-finished project and enjoy the company of others while you work; all skill levels are welcome. Feel free to stop by for a few minutes or stay the whole hour.

On the first Tuesday of the month, In Stitches will take place on Zoom; see our events calendar for the link to the meeting. The rest of the month, the group will meet in-person inside the library. See our events calendar for more information.

Ukulele Group - February 8 (in-person) and 22 (Zoom)

This year we are making some changes in the Ukulele classes to make it more convenient and useful for you.

We'll continue to meet twice a month: the 2nd Wednesday at 3:30 and the 4th Wednesday at 5:00. We will be playing the same music at both sessions. But the focus, time and "venue" have changed. You have the choice of coming to both or either. Whatever works for you!

The 2nd Wednesday Group will meet in person at the library. That session will focus on the songs for the month in greater detail. It will provide an opportunity to answer any questions you may have from your practice and learn from each other.

The 4th Wednesday Group will meet via Zoom at 5:00 pm, at least until daylight savings time begins. Here we'll just strum and pluck and yuck it up in the privacy of home — where no one else can hear you making ukulele fun and no one cares about bloop & errors! Less talk and more play.

If you are not already on the music mailing list, please email aatkins@kennebunklibrary.org to register.

I Want to Work With Animals - February 8

Do you know a kid who loves animals or an adult still trying to figure out what they want to be when they grow up? On Wednesday, February 8 at 6:00 p.m. Melissa McCue-McGrath is back at KFL to excitedly walk all ages through the many ways in which people can work alongside animals! She will introduce arson detection dogs used to solve criminal cases in the fire departments across the country, archeologist assistant dogs who have found 3,000 year old remains in Croatia, library cats who calm patrons, humans who use aqua-therapy to help baby elephants heal from injuries, and more! So if you are 3 to 93 and still dream of working alongside animals, this is the talk for you! As a professional dog trainer and behavior consultant of nearly 20 years, Melissa has lots of experience working with people who "just love animals" and are looking to find their own way of working with them. You can find Melissa, when she's not playing Ukulele at KFL, teaching dogs at AWS, or you can listen anytime to her podcast, BewilderBeasts, at BewilderBeastsPod.com.

Nonfiction Book Group - February 13

Join us on Monday, February 13 at 6:30 p.m. to discuss All the Living and the Dead by Hayley Campbell.

"We are surrounded by death. It is in our news, our nursery rhymes, our true-crime podcasts. Yet from a young age, we are told that death is something to be feared. How are we supposed to know what we're so afraid of, when we are never given the chance to look? Fuelled by a childhood fascination with death, journalist Hayley Campbell searches for answers from the people who choose to make a living by working with the dead. Along the way, Campbell encounters funeral directors, embalmers, a man who dissects cadavers for anatomy students, and a former executioner who is responsible for ending 62 lives. She sits in a van with gravediggers who have already dug their own graves, holds a brain at an autopsy, visits a cryonics facility in Michigan, and goes for late-night Chinese with a homicide detective. Through Campbell's probing, reverent interviews with these people who see death every day, Campbell pieces together the psychic jigsaw to ask- Why would someone choose a life of working with the dead? And what does dealing with death every day do to you as a person? A dazzling work of cultural criticism, All the Living and the Dead weaves together reportage with memoir, history, and philosophy, to offer readers a fascinating look into the psychology of Western death." - Novelist

Digital Decluttering - February 16

It's so easy to clutter up our phones because they're not taking up any visible space. When it's out of sight and out of mind, decluttering our devices might not seem so important; but, when we can't find what we need, it can become a daunting task to try to clean it up. However, never to worry, KFL is here to help! Here to give you tips and tricks to begin and maintain a clean digital space, KFL's Technology Educator will hold an informative presentation on February 16 from 10:30 - 11:30 a.m. to start you on the path of digital decluttering. In this program, we are going to learn how to organize digital photos and videos so you can find what you need quickly, and we will answer any other related questions you may have during this time. This event is free, wheelchair accessible, and open to all. If you have any further questions, please contact our Technology Educator, Emmaline, at (207) 985-2173.

- Thursday, February 2 at 6:30 p.m.: Ula Polsky and Lindsey Jamison from the Roux Institute on Educating for the Future of Global Trade.
- Wednesday, February 8 at 5:30 p.m.: John Doughty on the Global Space Race

The Camden Conference is a fantastic educational resource for Mainers: a world affairs conference that has been held annually in Camden since 1988. The results for this month's Would You Rather question are in! For the first time, we had our Would You Rather question posted at the adult circulation desk and in the Children's Room. In January, we asked, "Would you rather play a sport or play an instrument?" In the Children's Room, 44 friends wanted to play a sport, while 25 friends would prefer to play an instrument. 9 friends just couldn't decide and placed a sticker right on the center line. At the adult circulation desk, 18 friends would like to play a sport, and 22 friends would rather play an instrument. 3 would like to do both. In total, we had 62 votes for sport, 47 votes for instrument, and 12 votes for both. It's a tough question! Which would you choose? Keep an eye out for next month's question and vote for your choice!

Speers Gallery

February Artist: Inspiring the Love of Art

The Speers Gallery at the Kennebunk Free Library presents "Inspiring the Love of Art", an exhibition of artwork created by students from The New School and School Around Us. This is the fifth year the library has hosted an exhibit by these young artists.

The exhibit will run February 2-27, and the public is invited to a reception on Wednesday, February 8, from 4:00-5:30 p.m.

The New School is a democratic high school located in Kennebunk, and School Around Us is a holistic co-learning community for homeschoolers ages 5-14. The arts are an important part of the curriculum at TNS and SAU, and local artists are frequently a source of inspiration and teaching for the students. For example, this year students worked with Pamela Moulton, a fiber/installation artist in Portland. Josie Perkins teaches performance music and music theory. Rhonda Miller teaches visual art; 2-D and sculpture. Other local artists have enjoyed sharing their love of the arts. They give students the opportunity to interact with professional artists and form relationships with adults beyond their core teachers. The balance between academic pursuits and artistic expression meets the belief in holistic education for both schools.

This year the work of students includes puppetry, digital art, pottery and drawing from The New School and drawings and paintings from the School Around Us. Students have created, collected and prepared work, and are excited to see their voice and diligence celebrated on the wall of the Speers Gallery. Kennebunk Free Library is pleased to welcome back and display the works of these talented artists once again.

The public is invited to view the exhibit in the library's Speers Gallery from February 2- 27 at 112 Main St., Kennebunk, Maine during regular library hours when the gallery is not in use for library programs. Please check the library website for current hours and gallery access, www.kennebunklibrary.org.

A Message from the Library Director

As I'm writing this note, the Town is recovering from its recent winter storms and power outages. We were very happy to open our doors to help a waiting line of people who were looking for heat, bathrooms, WiFi, and a place to charge their devices. Even when our power went down for an hour, we were able to hook up one of our WiFi hotspots which provided internet for those that chose to stay. While it is never a preference for our community to face hardships, we are glad to know that we can offer a safe and warm place for those who need it.

My hope is that everyone knows that KFL is always a place for people to come when they need help or entertainment or education or ....

Staff Picks & Messages

Ian, Library Assistant

The Wild Hunt by Emma Seckel

This book covers so many themes and yet never feels overwhelming. Touching on everything from love and grief to Celtic mythology and a post-World War II world, this is a beautifully written book. Leigh returns Edinburgh to her childhood home on an unnamed Scottish island where a mystery involving the disappearance of a local boy slowly unfolds. Hanging over the story are the Slauch, creatures of Celtic legend that represent souls after death.

House of X/Powers of X by Jonathan Hickman with art by Pepe Larraz

This is the book that kicked off Jonathan Hickman's reboot of the X-Men books back in 2019. I've been catching up on the Dawn of X storyline and was reminded at how refreshing and exciting his vision of the franchise was. As with a lot of Hickman's work expect big ideas and themes along with a fair amount of humor sprinkled in. This is fairly accessible for anyone wanting to start with X-Men books but be sure to keep the X-Men wiki open while you read.

Margaret's Unicorn by Briony May Smith

As a father to a four-year-old girl, I have read my share of unicorn books. This one is by far my favorite. Lovely illustrations accompany a sweet story about a little girl moving to a new home and finding a friend to help her with the transition. Highly recommended for any parents looking for a fresh unicorn story.

Kat, Library Assistant

Demon Copperhead by Barbara Kingsolver

This modern twist on David Copperfield takes us to Appalachia through the foster care system, the opiate crisis, teen pregnancy, and child labor. Damon and his best friend and neighbor "Maggot" are big losers in the parent lottery. The characters are engaging or infuriating but seem "real". The author offers us a sympathetic view into generational poverty and passed on trauma. This is a raw, filter less story but I was not tempted to look away.

Romancing the Home – Stylish interiors for Modern Living by Steward Manger with Jacqueline Terrebone

Looking for some inspiration to freshen up your home's interior? Want to imagine what a clutter free home might look like? I do. This book could have been subtitled "Fifty Shades of Beige". That isn't a bad thing, I guess beige replaces grey this year. Travel the world with the designer and see what he does with a Scottish Castle, a New England beach home, a Paris apartment, a London townhouse, a contemporary penthouse, etc. I enjoyed the beautiful photography and varied architecture. A fun escape on a wintry day.

Dinners With Ruth by Nina Totenberg

With the passing of Barbara Walters, I was drawn to learn more about women that busted into male territory in the 1960's. Of course, getting another perspective of RBG was very attractive. I didn't know much about Nina Totenberg before reading this memoir and I am glad "to make her acquaintance". Washington DC was a lonely place for women during this time and friendships based on mutual support were vital to fulfilling this new role for women: career and family. I loved the personal insight into the powerhouse, tiny woman judge Ginsberg, as well as her tender love story marriage with Marty. Audio available on Overdrive.
