FIFTIETH YEAR

CHATSWORTH, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY, APRIL 26, 1923

NUMBER 32

DEATH COMES TO HER RELIEF

Mrs. C. R. Spence, Blind and Paralyzed Succumbs Monday Near Chatsworth.

Mrs. C. R. Spence died at the home of her son, Clement Spence, southeast of Chatsworth Monday morning at 8:20 death being due to paralysis.

Funeral services were held from the home Wednesday afternoon at 1:30, conducted by Rev. S. L. Buchanan, of the Baptist church. The burial was in the Chatsworth cemetery.

Mary Elizabeth Van Horn was born May 5, 1849 in West Kingdon county, Ohio. At the age of 20 she came to Fairbury and the following year was married to C. R. Spence. One son was born to this union. They also raised a girl, now Mrs. Maud E. Spence, of Kankakee, who came to their home when she was three weeks old. She afterwards married a nephew of her foster father.

Mrs. Spence became blind two years ago. Since that time she has been confined to the home most of the time. A little over a year ago she suffered a slight stroke of paralysis and on March 21st of this year another stroke rendered her helpless. She suffered more than most people knew but bore it well. She was a good neighbor and was always willing to lend a helping hand to others.

She leaves, besides her husband and one son, four grandchildren and one great grand child. They are as follows: Mrs. Alverta Ruppel, Leon, Donald and Ralph Spence. The great grandchild is Estella Mae Ruppel.

Those who attended the funeral from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kindar, Mrs. Estepa, Miss Erma Coleman, Mr. Forlich, and Mrs. Manda Smith from Fairbury; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Maplethorpe, of Forrest; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Spence, of Kempton; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Burrell, Mr. and Mrs. Axle Miller and Mr. Coleman, of Onarga; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Spence and Gilbert Spence, of East Linn; Mrs. Maude Spence, Miss Zelpha Spence, Theodore Spence and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jannusch, of Kankakee; Mrs. Snow, of Pleasant, Kan., and Mrs. Goldie Meeker of Cropsey.

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS.

There does not appear to have been any new developments in the hard road route location problem the past week.

The state surveyors, who were going over the proposed route along the railroad tracks from Chatsworth to La Hogue finished the job several days ago. Before leaving they surveyed the viaduct route on Seventh street in Chatsworth north to the present Corn Belt road and then east on the Corn Belt.

It is hard to forecast what the state highway department will do about locating the new road east from Chatsworth or whether anything will be done this year. If it was left to the people along the route either the north or south road would be used.

If the state engineer has his way the road will be built (sometime) along the railroad on a new route as he is reported to have so stated.

A CHECK ON DUMPING.

The Chatsworth village board has decided that hereafter they will know who is hauling rubbish to the village dumping ground and have placed a lock on the gate leading to the enclosure. Four village draymen will have keys.

The dumping privilege has been badly abused by irresponsible persons who, in some cases, did not take the trouble to get inside the dumping ground to unload but scattered the refuse over the Hollywood slaughter house lot. The village board recently had men clean up the rubbish and now the dumping ground is in good shape again and they intend trying to keep it that way.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

All persons who have rubbish to dispose of are requested to employ either John Rose, Oliver Mackinson, Cap Bargman or Michael Rosenberg, as they are the only ones who have keys to the dumping ground.

PLANNING MORE ROADS

State Senator Lantz Working for Improvements for His District.

On April 18th a new $100,000,000 road bill, Senate Bill No. 376, was introduced in the State Senate, being a new act for a second state wide system of hard surface roads.

This bill provides for some three thousand miles additional to the present system of hard surface roads to be paid for out of the automobile license fee.

Senator Lantz has embodied in this bill a system of roads for the 16th District which if the bill passes and the bond issue carries, gives the District a most efficient and economical system of roads connecting the towns in this District with their county seats.

Routes 1 to 46 inclusive, are routes under the present system. Beginning with Route 47, the first named in the new bill the senator has embodied in this route a road from Dwight south thru Livingston county connecting with the Corn Belt at Forrest and south.

Route 89 starting at Tiskilwa thru Hennepin, Granville, McNabb, Magnolia, Varna, La Rose, Washburn, Casanova to Metamora where it meets Route 116 running from E. Peoria thru Germantown, Metamora, Roanoke, Benson, Flanagan, Pontiac, Saunemin, Cullom and east to Sheldon.

Between Pontiac and Streator another much needed road has been laid out.

Senator Lantz has worked very hard on these routes and feeling that the people of his district really wanted them as the 16th Senatorial District sent the largest delegation of road boosters to Springfield that has as yet appeared before the governor.

It has been generally rumored about the capitol building that amendments to the road bill are not to be considered and if that rule is adhered to this district is in a very fortunate position.

CRUSHED UNDER HOUSE

Cullom Man Severely Injured by Unusual Accident.

Reuben Hartman received a fractured hip as a result of having a house fall on him.

Rube had assisted in moving the old frame house, known as the Farmer property, in the east part of Cullom. The house had been jacked up, after it had been moved out near the alley to be used as a garage. Mr. Hartman, in the course of his work got under the house. While lying under it, adjusting some blocks, the house sagged down on the corner under which he was working pinning him to the ground by his hips. He was extricated as quickly as possible and taken to a physician.

He was taken to St. James' hospital where, by the aid of an X-ray, it was found he had a fracture of the bone in his right hip. He remained in the hospital for treatment.—Cullom Chronicle.

WHO KNOWS?

If any one knows of the present whereabouts of Mr. Len B. Hoadley who resided in Chatsworth some 20 or 25 years ago please communicate with The Peoples Savings Bank of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The object is to locate him as he is one of the heirs of the estate of his uncle I. C. Van Alstyne of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. It is necessary to locate him between now and December 1923. If he is not found by the end of this year he will lose his inheritance and it will go to the other heirs. M10Adv.

SUE CITY OF FAIRBURY.

W. D. P. Warren and L. W. Lemon, civil engineers of Decatur have filed a $5,000 damage suit in the circuit court here against the village of Fairbury. Only the praecipe in the suit has been filed, but it is understood that the Decatur parties prepared plans and specifications and made surveys for a sewage system and a sewage disposal plant for the village of Fairbury several years ago and that they have never been paid for their services. They are now seeking to recover from the village the amount claimed due them.

STRAWN HAS NEW POSTMASTER. Eric Gulberg is Strawn's new post master having taken over the office this week from Charles Myers who resigned recently on account of moving from the village. The office pays about $900 a year.

NEWS OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD

Short News Items Gleaned From Exchanges and Other Sources, Told Briefly.

Pontiac fans have organized an all-home base ball team and will use the grounds formerly used by the semi-pro team in the northeast part of town.

The Automatic Home Telephone company of Pontiac has filed a suit in the circuit court against the Cornell Telephone company, of Cornell. The suit is for $1,000 damages, the Pontiac concern alleging that the Cornell concern has failed to meet certain obligations.

Ira Brown had a hundred and ten little pigs that were farrowed by eleven sows or an average of ten to a sow. They are all healthy and give promise of growing into life-size porkers. Two of them, however, are going to be hard to handle, as they have only one ear each, which would give a fellow a poor hand-hold. Otherwise they are all right.—Fairbury Record.

After the plaintiff had presented her evidence and the defendant has submitted a portion of their evidence in the trial of Mrs. Laura Ross against the Chicago & Alton railroad in the circuit court Tuesday the attorneys settled the case out of court.

Mrs. Ross was suing the railroad for the death of her husband, Dr. John Ross whose automobile was demolished and he was instantly killed a couple of years ago when struck by a train at a crossing in Pontiac. This was the second trial of this case in the local court. In the first trial a jury awarded a verdict of $8,000. The case was then appealed by the railroad company and the case remanded by the upper court. It is understood that the agreement affected today carries a sum not quite approaching the amount awarded Mrs. Ross by the jury in the first hearing. Following the agreement reached in the above case, Judge Barry adjourned court for the present term. The May term will open on next Tuesday.

A WILL OIL STREETS.

The Chatsworth village board contracted for a carload of oil at its regular meeting Tuesday night. The oil will be spread on the village streets about June 1st and was purchased of the Trunk Oil Company at six cents at gallon.

AN OIL EXPERIMENT.

Virtues of Road Oiling to be Tried Out in Henry County.

Development of oil roads in Illinois a position second only to the state hard road system has led the state highway department to plan an experiment oil road in Henry county, similar to the Bates experimental hard road.

The bureau of materials of the highway department, is in co-operation with the county superintendent of highways of Henry county this summer is to construct a road for the purpose of observing under ordinary traffic conditions the effect of various quantities and grades of road oils now commonly used by Illinois counties. At the same time the study will be made of the several important factors entering into the construction of oiled roads, such as the method of application, condition of soil and subgrade and weather extremes.

Approximately 13,000 miles of road in Illinois now are oiled constituting more than 14 per cent of the public highway system. During the last year, these roads required more than 35,000,000 gallons of oil and involved an expenditure of more than $2,000,000. The state highway department has estimated that far over 14 per cent of the public traffic is carried by these roads. In localities where hard roads have not yet been built oiled roads carry the brunt of the traffic.

One phase of road oiling that will be investigated on the proposed experimental road, is the method to pursue to preserve the oiled surface throughout the winter and spring months. Illinois soil conditions are declared by highway department engineers to be sufficiently unlike those of any other states to make methods of developing oil roads a pioneer movement for this state.

LOOKING FOR LOST MAN

Elsewhere will be found a notice from the executor of an estate trying to locate Len B. Hoadley, who lived in Chatsworth about 20 years ago.

Len B. Hoadley's father's name was Calvin R. Hoadley and his mother's name Annie (Van Alstyne) Hoadley. He has one sister, Mrs. Nan B. Gilson of Grand Rapids, Mich., who lost all track of him since he left Fairbury. He was born in Lima, Ohio, June 30th, 1872, and moved to Chatsworth, Ill. in 1874. His mother passed away when he was 6 years old and his father in 1894. Anyone knowing his whereabouts will confer a favor on him by addressing The Peoples Savings Bank of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Executor of the Estate of I. C. Van Alstyne, deceased. While in Fairbury he was employed by a druggist by the name of Rumsey. He lived for a time at Chatsworth and Fairbury, Ill.

Piper City is to have a new grocery store and a new grocery-meat market.

MRS. GEO. BOUHL TAKEN BY DEATH

Chatsworth Woman Passes Away this Morning After Long and Painful Illness.

Mrs. George Bouhl died at her home in Chatsworth this morning at 3:30 after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held at the Catholic church Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery.

Mrs. Bouhl became ill almost two years ago from gall stones. She passed thru a severe operation on December 23, 1921 and for a time seemed to be recovering but suffered attacks of severe pain at intervals that gradually grew worse and more frequent. Finally poison from the gall bladder spread thru her system and for ten weeks before the end she was confined to her bed.

Her maiden name was Barbara Ziegler and she was born at Guenablange, France May 17, 1857. She was married in her native town to George Bouhl on October 26, 1880. They emigrated to the United States in 1881 and landed in Chatsworth June 21st of that year and have continued to reside on farms near Piper City and Chatsworth until seven years ago when they moved to the village.

Ten children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Bouhl, two sons dying in infancy. The surviving children are: Mrs. Mary Hays, Albert Bouhl, Mrs. Anna Wallie, George Bouhl, Mrs. Ida Schall, all of Piper City; and Edward and John of Chatsworth.

Deceased was a fine woman, a good wife and mother, and her death will be mourned by all who knew her.

WILL HAVE HOME TEAM

Chatsworth Base Ball Players Getting Ready for the Season.

A meeting of base ball fans was held at the Gray & Feely pool hall Monday evening to discuss the base ball situation.

Those present were enthusiastic for a local team for this season and the meeting resulted in the selection of John Feely as manager. All players who would like to compete for the team are requested to show up at the ball diamond next Sunday afternoon for practice.

The opening game of the season will be played in Chatsworth against Strawn on Sunday, May 13th. There are plenty of good ball players if a pitcher can be developed. Among the players who will try out for the team are Eddie Cooney, Hollie Roberts, Leo Sneyd, Martin Brown, S. L. Boeman, Fred Meinenhelder, Louie Walker, John Heiken, E. H. Silldorff, Billy Zorn and Albert Long.

REV. GIESE RETURNED.

Conference Assigns Chatsworth Man to Local Charge for Fifth Year.

The annual Illinois conference of the Evangelical church closed at Freeport Sunday night with the assignment of the pastors for the coming year, after a five days session.

Rev. J. A. Giese, who has served the Chatsworth church faithfully and well for the past four years, was returned for another year.

Rev. Paul Schaub, who has served the congregation at Charlotte for the past year, has received quite an advancement. He goes to the First church in Peoria. Rev. A. Good, who has been at Graymont for about four years, was assigned to Charlotte. He is a married man with a family and will move to the Charlotte parsonage.

Among the other appointments of men known locally are: Rev. W. B. Wilming, former Charlotte pastor, goes to a Kansas charge to be near his little daughter. Rev. M. Groenwald was returned to Humbolt Park. Rev. E. G. Vaubel goes to Downers Grove. Rev. S. W. Moshi to Joliet; Rev. J. Widmer to Low Point and Rev. E. E. Keiser to Kankakee.

FARM RESIDENCE BURNED.

Fire which first caught in the smoke house and spread to the dwelling caused Jacob Sohn and family, five and one-half miles southeast of Fairbury, to lose their home and all their household personal property. A chicken house also caught fire and was destroyed. Though partially protected by insurance, the loss is estimated at between $4,000 and $5,000. It was only the heroic efforts on the part of the Forrest fire department and volunteers that the other farm buildings were saved.

Members of the family have only the clothes they wore. Some articles removed from the burning structure were not out of the path of the flames and were burned anyhow. Velocity of the wind greatly hampered fire fighting.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

A traveling man named Courtney was killed when his automobile was struck by a fast passenger train on the Illinois Central at the crossing just south of the depot in Gilman Wednesday morning about 9 o'clock. He traveled for the Batesville Casket Company, of Batesville, Indiana and had been making regular trips to Chatsworth and other towns of this vicinity for the past seven or eight years.

FORD COUNTY FAVORS T. B. TEST

Last Thursday morning the supervisors of Ford county passed the $4,000 appropriation for conducting a free tuberculosis test of all cattle in the county. There was not one dissenting vote. The work will start next July and will continue for at least two years, the appropriation being used only for salary and local expenses. The state and government contributes to the work by paying indemnities on all cattle found to be diseased and condemned. It is estimated that less than 1 per cent of the cattle in Ford county are diseased.

KILLED BY FALL.

Mrs. Christina Hahn, a well known resident of Fairbury, suffered an accident at her home Sunday afternoon which resulted in practically instant death.

Mrs. Hahn apparently was going down the basement stairs when she fell and in falling struck her head against a ledge in the cellar-way, causing a fracture of the skull. Funeral services for the deceased were held Monday afternoon. She is survived by one son by a former marriage, M. A. Anderson, editor of the Fairbury Local Record.

DWIGHT MAN FINED.

Chris Christensen, of Dwight, was fined $300 and costs following a plea of guilty before Federal Judge Louis FitzHenry, in Peoria last Thursday, to charges of Volstead act violation. The fine was levied on the second count of the indictment. All other counts were nolle prossed. Jens Anderson, bartender, was freed, both counts being nolle prossed by W. B. Schroder, first assistant U. S. district attorney.

The last block of the old cement water mains in Pontiac burst one day last week during a fire and is now being replaced with iron pipe.

Mrs. Henry Raab, who lives north of Kempton, passed away at the Presbyterian hospital, Chicago, having gone to the city on last Thursday to be under the care of specialists. The body was brought home on Monday evening.

The May term of the Livingston county circuit court will be convened by Judge Baker Tuesday, May 1st. The May docket will contain 134 chancery cases, seventy common law cases, and two cases on the criminal side.

Miss Helen Twohey, the young daughter of William Twohey, of Odell, has just been appointed to a part time assistantship in the botany department of the University of Illinois at Urbana. Miss Twohey will assume the duties of this position in September and at the same time will continue her studies for the degree of Master of Arts.

Pontiac business men are endeavoring to have the Illinois trail, which is the new cement road running from Chicago to Springfield along the C. & A. railroad run thru the business section of the county seat town instead of west of the railroad tracks skirting the west edge of Pontiac. If this request is granted the road would have to cross the railroad tracks twice at grade.

Mrs. May Ellis is postmistress at Melvin having taken the post a little more than a year ago. She has two little children, and keeps up her home and does her own housework in addition to running the postoffice. Her husband's death two years ago did not find her totally unprepared for business, as she had taught school before her marriage and kept accounts and records for her husband, who was a contractor.

The Lain Construction Company in charge of the hard roads for the Corn Belt Trail have made arrangements with the Fairbury Coal Company to furnish water for their use. The reservoir is now ready, the pump installed and the pipe laid, so that water can be furnished for mixing the cement. We understand the company began pouring cement on the west section of the road the first of the week.

E. J. Brunbach, of Odell has filed a suit in the circuit court against W. E. Bates, also of Odell, in which he is seeking to recover damages in the sum of $500. Only the praecipe in the case has been filed as yet. The nature of the action is unknown.

A successful raid in search of hooch was made in Fairbury last Thursday night when the sheriff and deputies walked in on an inebriate party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis. They found eight gallons of moonshine and a still in operation with a quantity of liquor ready to be poured. The couple was taken before Justice of the Peace Bennett and ordered held to await the action of the grand jury under $1,000 bonds each. They were unable to furnish bail and were taken to the county jail at Pontiac.

Justice John Deyo Monday morning heard the case of the People vs. Marshall Carpenter, charged with assault and battery in which case Wade Emery was the complaining witness. Mr. Carpenter entered a plea of guilty and was assessed a fine of $3 and costs, a total of $12.15, which he paid. The two men engaged in words in the court house yard one day last week which terminated in the defendant striking Emery.

YE OLDEN TIMES

April 22, 1898

S. Herr is going to erect a large barn at his home just north of town. The building will be 42 by 56 feet, with 22-foot studding. Mr. Herr believes in having everything convenient and the best.

Ed. Nothangle spent election day in Cullom and reports a most exciting demonstration after the votes were counted in the evening. The brass band paraded the streets with the successful candidate for president of the village board carried upon the shoulders of four of his constituents.

The school election held on Saturday failed to create the excitement that it did a year ago, and the number of votes polled was nearly one hundred less than last year. Dr. C. V. Ellingwood was re-elected president of the board of education, and Messrs. B. N. Stone and R. B. Smith were elected as members of the board.

The village election passed off quietly on Tuesday and James Kerrins will be president of the board of trustees. The board the coming year will be composed of Messrs. John Rose, C. T. Burns and J. C. Beckman, who were elected Tuesday, and Messrs. Snyder, Entwistle and Turner, whose terms of office expire next year. John Taggart was re-elected clerk.

Miss Cara L. McVay, daughter of Mrs. H. N. McVay, was married on Thursday evening, April 14, to Hon. Archibald Wilson Hopkins, of Grandville. The wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Stewart, of Princeton, formerly residents of Forrest. The bride has many friends here, where she resided for a number of years while her father was pastor of the Presbyterian church, all of whom unite in extending good wishes to Mr. Hopkins in the legislature at Springfield.

The Livingston County Telephone Company has placed a number of 'phones in business houses and residences and has the line between here and Forrest completed. Owing to a delay in getting some of the necessary materials, the connections between Forrest and Fairbury have not been completed, but it is thought that Chatsworth people can soon be talking with Pontiac. The local exchange will be gotten to working just as soon as the necessary work can be done.

The village election on Tuesday in Cullom was a hot contest and excitement was at a high ebb. Some "tall hustling" was done for each ticket, and when the votes were counted the following was the result:

For president of the village board, E. S. Shearer 70
George Hertline 44
For members of the board, S. Leiserowitz 59
S. M. Boeman 67
Eli Smith 64
George Hargraves 49
William Thron 41
Lorenzo Holland 37
For village clerk, W. F. Kurtz 49
W. P. Kurtz 49

One of the largest and most brilliant weddings of the Easter season was solemnized at St. Rose's Catholic church in Strawn Wednesday. The bride was Miss Rosa M. Quinn, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Quinn, Harmon, third oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Amiel Harmon. Between three and four hundred invitations were issued and the church was crowded to its fullest capacity and was nicely decorated with flowers. A nuptial high mass was celebrated by Rev. A. M. Humphreys, of Pekin, assisted by Rev. P. Griffy, of Delevan, Rev. Dr. Dillon officiating at the matrimonial ceremonies. Miss Cassie Quinn acted as bridesmaid and Harry Harmon as best man. The popular Russel acted as usher, assisted by humorous Joe Burch's orchestra rendered Lohngins Wedding March and the choir was assisted by the popular little solo singer, Miss Lizzie Brosnahan, of Chatsworth, after which a grand reception was held at the home of the bride. The presents were many and valuable.

Great Shows Coming!

has contracted to show you a series of those wonderful Paramount Pictures

THERE'S some good motion picture news today. It costs real money to be able to give you this news, because the best photoplays, like the best of anything, don't come cheap.

But we figure that the best is what you want, and we intend that no theatre in this country shall show better pictures than are shown right here.

New York itself has nothing better than Paramount Pictures and from this time on you are going to see a whole series of them, the photoplays that are the talk of the country from the largest cities to the smallest hamlets.

Here are portraits of just a few of the Paramount stars, players and directors.

Back of Paramount is the largest motion picture organization on earth, and the reason it's the largest is because millions who want better pictures made it so.

There's a saying that if it's a Paramount Picture it's the best show in town, and that well may be true because when any new talent of any kind arises, naturally the chance to play to the whole world in Paramount Pictures is a prize that pulls.

And so, in stars, shows, directors, casts and settings, Paramount leads the world.

THE ARIZONA WAY

We have just heard of a new stunt being tried out by the people of cities and town in Arizona. There the newspapers, preachers and teachers, in fact everyone who has occasion to talk to the public is pleading with Arizona people to buy goods manufactured or produced in Arizona in preference to things made and grown in other states. Not that they want to be selfish. No—they only want to be prosperous. Those backing the movement contend that if every state would do this it would be worth a great deal to the entire country, because people would not only buy as much but would save on many articles that are made or grown at home yet which cost more when shipped in from a distance.

Not only that, but they argue that it would tend to keep the people of the state more generally employed. Of course this would always have a surplus even when using and consuming their own products. This would bring added revenue into the state. In the matter of travel and recreation they are urged to spend their vacation money anywhere they see fit, but told to be sure and see all there is to see in Arizona.

We believe it is a good plan, and feel sure that Chatsworth people who think it over will agree that if every state adopted it it would work to the advantage of all. It would mean the development of a lot of advantages which we are now overlooking, but which folks in other states are taking advantage of. It would encourage factories in states that have a lot of factories to move to states where a greater measure of co-operation and a certain market exists. In fact, there is no end to the possibilities of this new state-wide buy-at-home plan, no end to the benefits when it is faithfully carried out.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

The following editorial clipped from last week's Gibson City Courier, is worth considering by residents of every town:

"The authorities of Gibson City would do well to assume the guardianship of the shade trees which line the residence streets as they are located outside of property lines. Tree trimming which amounts to butchery has ruined many of the finest trees of the community. A recently published scientific article on the shade trees of America, says: 'Countless thousands of fine trees have been ruined by the atrocious practice of cutting the tops off. Some call it pollarding. It is tree-butcherery of the worst type. God Almighty knew what he was doing when he put tops on trees. The use of climbing spurs on live trees is also inexcusable. Only tree butchers and careless line men use them. The spurs rip open the bark and allow water to get in. Decay follows inevitably. The proper care of trees should be a matter of expert study by city authorities, who should allow no street tree to be trimmed without permit. This would stop the mutilation of beautiful shade trees.'"

WHERE HONESTY COUNTS

When an advertisement is found in a reputable newspaper, the reader has a right to assume that it is an honest ad. There was a time when dishonest advertising was used, just so the advertiser paid the bill the newspaper accepted it. That day, however, has passed. Now no newspaper will print dishonest advertising if it can possibly ascertain that there is doubt as to the statements in it. Lessons have been learned by the newspapers, and advertisers themselves have realized that exaggerated claims and untrue statements will sooner or later hurt their business. No merchant can advertise dishonestly and remain in business very long. So the ads in the papers have become of real news value to readers, the subscriber expecting to get honest assistance and profit from them. No longer are they read with the comment that "It's a fake." And that is just one more good reason why every business man in and around Chatsworth is making a serious mistake and standing in their own light when they try to do business without advertising.

Why doesn't France threaten Germany with prohibition unless she lays up.

A DANGEROUS MOVE

From all indications the next thing that is going to sweep over the United States to create nation-wide talk and difference of opinion will be a plan to abolish the Sunday schools. Just a few days ago at a convention of Episcopal church rectors at Omaha this proposition was brought up. Promoters of the plan claim that there are so many attractions for young people these days that, after they have gone to school five days in the week they insist upon using Sunday for other purposes than attending Sunday school. The argument is also used that it would be worth more to have sessions of a religious school one afternoon or evening during the week, that the attendance would always be larger and the religious results more satisfactory.

We haven't sounded out any Chatsworth citizens as yet on the subject, but we feel safe in saying that the Sunday school is too old and too sacred as an institution for them to part with it without a protest. Maybe it isn't as big a drawing card as it used to be before the days of the auto and the frequent community dances. But it is still doing more good than it does harm—and as long as any institution is doing that it's worth fighting for.

WHEN RAILROADS QUIT

The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized the abandonment of an Illinois railroad (The Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis) 234 miles in length. The line went into the receivers' hands in 1924. Its deficit since has not been less than $600,000 a year. Government operation left debts of $1,900,000. The state claims $120,000 in back taxes and has threatened bankruptcy proceedings to get the money.

Twenty towns on this railroad have no other rail transportation. An immense farming district must now find some new way of getting its products to market. It is estimated that real estate depreciation, due to the loss of convenient transportation will be $8,000,000. From 10 to 30 per cent will have to be written off the present valuation of farm property.

Tough luck for the twenty small towns and the few thousand of farmers. But—you say—they will get by in some fashion. Railroads in Illinois are not far apart. Motor trucks and horse-drawn wagons can do a lot in the way of carrying freight.

But suppose it should be twenty times twenty towns or two thousand times twenty towns. That would be a catastrophe which would disturb the economic foundation of the nation. And the thing is possible. One of the easiest ways by which this disaster could be brought about would be the successful issue of the campaign of Senators Capper and Brookhart to force the railroad companies to lower freight rates regardless of their ability to operate upon small earnings. These gentlemen do not want an inquiry into the ability of the railroads to run with less income than they have now. They do not want a study to be made of parings and skimpings the railroads might be forced into. They want arbitrary action to be taken at once—cut the rates and let the railroads climb out of their hog-hole of trouble the best way they can.

What they do not see—and apparently do not desire to see—is that the course the railroads might adopt is to go out of business abandoning twenty thousand towns as the Illinois line left twenty towns high and dry.

There is no magic or mystery about running a railroad. Henry Ford thought so for a time, and had a good deal to say about stupid and backward management. But since his own road has piled up a deficit of nearly $300,000 he has changed the subject. A railroad, like every other business, must have money coming in before it can spend money out. It can't go just so far in accumulating debts before it has to quit. All power and art of receivers will not do more than postpone the evil day. Government statistics show that the biggest present item of railroad costs is labor. All ill-judged raids on the companies, a maneuver of this kind at Washington for the political support of the western farmers, and the companies would almost certainly attempt to cut their labor costs. At a time of climbing wages, that would amount to exploding a bomb under industry and commerce. Even for their friends the farmers the labor people will not submit to wage cuts.

What we have tried to bring home is the fact that the situation of the railroads today is very much like that of the patient just discharged from the hospital. They cannot stand strains and shocks. They lack the strength to endure fresh exposure to infection. It would not take much to bring about collapse. Further, it should be thoroughly understood that great districts abandoned by railroads must revert to some more primitive form of existence than the one now pursued. Depreciated real estate values mean a loss in the means by which that real estate can be made productive.

Let Messrs. Capper and Brookhart be successful in forcing rate reductions in advance of the railroads' power to adjust themselves to lower earnings and, before the last chapter of the history of the incident is written, the experience of the twenty Illinois towns will be repeated many times over.

Isn't that price rather high for maintaining two senators in the good graces of their constituents?

THE AUTO OUTPUT

At the rate motor cars are being turned out in this country it looks like it won't be long until every person who has the slightest wish for one will have that wish gratified. During the month of March, according to figures just made public, 300,000 cars and trucks were sold. If this record keeps up there will be purchased for the first quarter of the year 1933 no less than $16,772 cars and trucks, as compared with 386,195 during a similar period last year. Some enthusiastic follower of the auto business has stated that by 1932 there will be no less than 24,000,000 autos in this country. We are rapidly getting to be a nation that travels on pneumatic tires. Already we have more motor cars than any half-dozen other nations in the world combined and we haven't even approached the point where we can linger in the belief that we have reached somewhere near the climax of production and sale.

The Illinois Central gang of painters began this morning to paint the Chatsworth depot. The standard colors of orange and brick red are being used. The Illinois Central is one railroad that seems to be prospering, at least they are expending a lot of money in keeping up their equipment and making improvements.

Rev. Fred Harris and Miss Nellie Hawkins were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hawkins at Grand Rapids, Mich., Saturday, April 21st. The couple are expected here Monday to visit the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Harris. Mr. and Mrs. Harris were students at the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago, from which Mr. Harris graduated recently and was ordained minister Tuesday of this week.

The Doctor Was Right

When the good old family doctor was asked about baking powders, he said:

"Use Royal. It is made from Cream of Tartar and is absolutely pure. You could dissolve a couple of teaspoons of Royal in water and drink it with benefit. That's a health test mighty few baking powders can meet."

The doctor was right.

There were no movie with their capable actors to picture the western life. If there were no other writers than Zane Grey to present the romance and thrill of the West, past and present, he would be chosen to write its history. He is a vivid and colorful writer, and his stories are full of life and action. He is a true westerner, and his stories are full of the spirit of the West. He is a true westerner, and his stories are full of the spirit of the West.

Without the breeding and the pioneer instinct which he inherited, he probably would not have been the great writer of great western stories which he is today; but one may say that the spirit of the West and the spirit of the pioneer was born in him. He is a descendant of the famous Zane family which figured so largely in frontier history, and his birthplace, Zanesville, Ohio, takes its name from an ancestor on his mother's side. Always an out-of-doors man, he has improved an opportunity to visit and spend long periods of residence in practically all portions of the West. And he has gone into the out-of-way places, into the deserts, into the more remote mountains and to the difficult spots which the average traveler does not reach. He has lived the life and found it charming and has presented it with an intimacy and accuracy touched by few writers of either fiction or fact.

While gathering material for delightful novels, Mr. Grey has had the chance to familiarize himself with the charms of nature in its various manifestations. Best known to the general public for his romances, he is known to a great circle of hunters, fishers and sports lovers for his books treating of the game, the fishing, the trees and other sports. The Indians, etc., of western America. Had he been raised on a cattle ranch, in a mining camp, among the Indians or with trappers and then sent away to school, he could hardly have been more efficient in presenting the charm of the West. He stated above the reason lies in the fact that the love of it and the spirit of it were born in him.

CHAPTER I
A Gentleman of the Range.
When Madeline Hammond stepped from the train at El Cajon, New Mexico, it was nearly midnight, and her first impression was of a huge dark space of cool, windy emptiness, strange and silent, stretching away under great blinking white stars.

"Miss, there's no one to meet you," said the conductor anxiously.

"I wired my brother," she replied.

"He will be here presently. But, if he should not come—surely I can find a hotel?"

"There's lodgings to be had. If you'll excuse me—this is no place for a lady like you to be alone at night. It's a rough little town—mostly Mexicans, miners, cowboys. And they carouse a lot. Besides, the revolution across the border has stirred up some excitement along the line. Miss, I guess it's safe enough, if you—"

"Thank you. I am not in the least afraid."

As the train started to glide away Miss Hammond walked toward the dimly lighted waiting room. She entered the empty waiting room. An oil lamp gave out a thick yellow light. A telegraph instrument clicked faintly.

Madeline Hammond crossed the waiting-room to a window and, holding aside her veil, looked out. At first she could discern only a few dim lights, and these blurred in her sight. As her eyes grew accustomed to the darkness she saw a superbly built horse standing near the window. Beyond was a bare square. Through a hole in the window-glass came a cool breeze, and on it breathed a sound that struck cordently upon her ear—a discordant mingling of hoarse snarl, shout, and the tramp of boots to the hard music of a phonograph.

"Western revelry," mused Miss Hammond, as she left the window.

"Now, what to do? I'll wait here. Perhaps the station agent will return soon, or Alfred will come for me."

As she sat down to wait she reviewed the causes which accounted for the remarkable situation in which she found herself. That Madeline Hammond should be alone, at a late hour, in a dingy little western railroad station, was indeed extraordinary.

The close of her debutante year had been marred by the only unhappy experience of her life—the disgrace of her brother and his leaving home. She dated the beginning of a certain thoughtful habit of mind from that time, and a dissatisfaction with the brilliant life society offered her.

There had been months of unrest, of curiously painful wonderment that her position, her wealth, her popularity no longer sufficed. She believed she had lived through the dreams and fancies of a girl to become a woman of the world. And she had gone on as before a part of the glittering show, but no longer blind to the truth—that there was nothing in her luxurious life to make it significant. And at last she knew what she needed—to be alone, to brood for hours, to gaze out on lonely, darkening stretches, to watch realized he was half drunk. As she instinctively recoiled she not only gave him a keener glance, but stepped into a position where a better light shone on his face. It was like red bronze, bold, raw, sharp. Like that of all women whose beauty and charm had brought them much before the world, Miss Hammond's intuition had been developed until she had a delicate and exquisitely sensitive perception of the nature of men and of her effect upon them. This crude cowboy, under the influence of drink, affronted her; nevertheless, whatever was in his mind, he meant no insult. "I shall be greatly obliged to you if you will show me to the hotel," she said.

"Lady, you wait here," he replied, slowly, as if his thought did not come swiftly. "I'll go fetch the porter."

Then it was she had first thought of visiting the brother who had gone west to cast his fortune with the cattlemen. As it happened, she had friends who were on the eve of starting for California, and she made a quick decision to travel with them. When she calmly announced her intention of going out west her mother had exclaimed in consternation; and her father, surprised into pathetic memory of the black sheep of the family, had stared at her with glistening eyes.

"Why, Madeline! You want to see that wild boy?" Then he had reverted to the anger he still felt for his wayward son, and he had forbidden Madeline to go. Her mother forgot her haughty pose and dignity, Madeline stood her ground, even to reminding them that she was twenty-four and her own mistress. In the end she had prevailed.

Madeline had planned to arrive in El Cajon on October 3, her brother's birthday, and she had succeeded, though her arrival occurred at the twenty-fourth hour. Her train had been several hours late. Whether or not the message had reached Alfred's hands she had no means of telling, and the thing which concerned her now was the fact that she had arrived and he was not there to meet her.

As Madeline sat waiting in the yellow gloom she heard the faint, intermittent click of the telegraph instrument, the low hum of wires, the occasional stamp of an iron-shod hoof, and a distant vacant laugh rising above the sounds of the dance. She became conscious of a slight quickening of her pulse. Madeline had only a limited knowledge of the West. Like all of her class, she had traveled Europe and had neglected America. She had been astounded at the interminable distance she had traveled, and if there had been anything attractive to look at in all that journey she had passed it in the night.

A faint sound like the rattling of thin chains diverted Madeline's attention. At first she imagined it was made by the telegraph wires. Then she heard a step. The door swung wide; a tall man entered, and with him came the clinking rattle. She realized then that the sound came from his spurs.

"Will you please direct me to a hotel?" asked Madeline, rising.

The cowboy removed his sombrero, and the sweeping he made with it and the accompanying bow, despite their exaggeration, had a kind of rude grace. He took two long strides toward her.

"Lady, are you married?"

In the past Miss Hammond's sense of humor had often helped her to overlook critical exactions natural to her breeding. She kept silence, and she imagined it was just as well that her veil hid her face at the moment. She had been prepared to find cowboys rather striking, and she had been warned not to laugh at them.

This gentleman of the range deliberately reached down and took up her left hand. Before she recovered from her start of amaze he had stripped off her glove.

"Fine spark, but no wedding ring," he drawled. "Lady, I'm glad to see you're not married."

He released her hand and returned the glove.

"You see, the only hotel in this here town is against boarding married women. Bad business for hotels to have married women. Keeps the boys away. You see, this isn't Reno."

Then he laughed rather boyishly, and from that and the way he stouched on his sombrero, Madeline thought she was getting married—and everybody always wants to gamble. . . . I must have been pretty drunk. . . . "Explanations are not necessary," she interrupted. "I am very tired—distressed. The hour is late. Have you the slightest idea what it means to be a gentleman?"

His bronzed face burned a flaming crimson.

"Is my brother here—in town tonight?" Madeline went on.

"No. He's at his ranch."

"But I wired him."

"Like as not the message is over in his box at the P. O. He'll be in town tomorrow. He's shipping cattle for Stillwell."

"Meanwhile I must go to a hotel. Will you please—"

She thanked him, and as he went out, closing the door, she sat down in considerable relief. It occurred to her that she should have mentioned her brother's name. Then she fell to wondering what living with such uncouth cowboys had done to Alfred. She alone of her family had ever believed in any latent good in Alfred Hammond, and her faith had sorely survived the two years of silence.

Waiting there, she again found herself listening to the moan of the wind through the wires. Then Madeline heard a rapid pattering, low at first and growing louder, which presently she recognized as the galloping of horses. She went to the window, thinking, hoping her brother had arrived. But as the clatter increased to a roar, shadows sped by—lean horses, flying manes and tails, sombreroed riders, all strange and wild in her sight. Recalling what the conductor had said, she was at some pains to quell her uneasiness. Then, out of the gloom two figures appeared, one tall, the other slight. The cowboy entered, pulling a disheveled figure—that of a priest, a padre, whose mantle had manifestly been disarranged by the rude grasp of his captor. Plain it was that the padre was extremely terrified.

Madeline Hammond gazed in bewilderment at the little man, so pale and shaken, and a protest trembled on her lips; but it was never uttered, for in this half-drunken cowboy now appeared to be a cool, grim-smiling devil; and stretching out a long arm, he grasped her and swung her back to the bench.

"You stay there!" he ordered.

His voice, though neither brutal nor harsh nor cruel, had the unaccountable effect of making her feel powerless before to move. No man had ever addressed her in such a tone. It was the woman in her that obeyed—the personality of proud Madeline Hammond.

The padre lifted his clasped hands as if supplicating for his life, and began to speak hurriedly in Spanish. Madeline did not understand the language. The cowboy pulled out a bag and brandished it in the priest's face. Then he lowered it, apparently to point it at the priest's feet. There was a red flash, and then a thundering report that stunned Madeline. The room filled with smoke and the smell of powder. When she could see distinctly through the smoke she experienced a sensation of immeasurable relief that the cowboy had not shot the padre. But he was still waving the gun, and now appeared to be dragging his victim toward her. What possibly could be the drunken fool's intention? This must be, she surely was a cowboy trick. Madeline no sooner thought of it than she made certain her brother was introducing her to a Wild West amusement. She could scarcely believe it, yet it must be true. Probably he stood just outside the door or window laughing at her embarrassment.

Anger checked her panic. She straightened up with what composure this surprise had left her and started for the door. But the cowboy barred her passage—grasped her arm. The Madeline divined that her brother could not have any knowledge of this indignity. It was no trick. Poise, dignity, culture—all the acquired habits of character—fled before the instinct to fight. She was athletic. She fought. She struggled desperately. But he forced her back with hands of iron. She had never known a man could be so strong.

"What—do you—mean?" she panted.

"Dearie, ease up a little on the brittle," he replied, gaily.

Madeline thought she must be dreaming. She could not think clearly. She not only saw this man, but she felt his powerful presence. And the shaking priest, the haze of blue smoke, the smell of powder—these were not unreal.

Then close before her eyes burst another blinding red flash, and close at her ears followed another report. Unable to stand, Madeline slipped down onto the bench. Her drifting faculties refused clearly to record what transpired during the next few moments; presently, however, as her mind steadied somewhat, she heard, though as in a dream, the voice of the padre hurrying over strange woods. It ceased, and then the cowboy's voice stirred her.

"Lady, say Si—Si. Say it—quick! Say it—Si!"

From sheer suggestion, a force irresistible at this moment when her will was clamped by panic, she spoke the word.

"And now, lady—so we can finish this properly—what's your name?"

Still obeying mechanically, she told him.

He stared for a while, as if the name had awakened associations in a mind somewhat befogged. He leaned back unsteadily.

"What name?" he demanded.

Will Not Increase Prices on Solid and Pneumatic Truck Tires Until May 1st

Never has Firestone been so well situated to give operators the greatest measure of Cushion, Traction and Mileage at the lowest cost.

Truck owners, using pneumatic tires, will find the answer to every demand of rapid, economical transportation in the Firestone Truck Type Cords with the tread that increases carrying capacity and improves traction, and the powerful gum-dipped carcass construction.

Today, economical manufacturing and distribution are showing the fairest results. Our favorable purchases of rubber, in advance of the 160% increase brought about by the British Crude Rubber Restriction Act, aid further in maintaining the old price levels.

Let the Firestone Service Dealers Keep Your Trucks Moving

There are 800 Firestone Service Dealers, located in the principal trucking centers, fitted by natural ability and a thorough knowledge of trucking, to help you choose the right tire for your roads, loads and service.

Price Protection as Long as Stocks Last

Additional tires will be supplied to Service Dealers only so far as our present output will permit. Consult the nearest Firestone Service Dealer at once regarding your truck tire needs. He is in an advantageous position to give you an unusual tire—a specialized service—and prices which may not be duplicated in months.

Veterans Plan What to Do With Bonus

Temporary Certificates May Be Issued to Veterans in Urgent Need of Funds.

Springfield.—Just one question is now uppermost in the minds of the veterans of the World war—"What shall I do with my bonus?" Legion members and other former service men of Illinois and Iowa are asking the question.

The two floods of gold are ready to flow out to every nook and corner of both these sister states, connected now in one more common interest. There are four times as many veterans in Illinois, for whom $55,000,000 has been appropriated for bonuses, as there are in Iowa, where $22,000,000 has been appropriated. Veterans in Illinois number about 400,000, and in Iowa about 100,000.

Felicitations Are Sent.
Department Commander Charles W. Schick of the American Legion in Illinois has sent felicitations to the Iowa headquarters, where the same kind of rejoicing attended a decision by their Supreme court.

In Illinois, according to "Daddy" Schick, the question, "What will they do with the bonus now they have it?" is getting to be a very common one. "Daddy" Schick says he informs all questioners that Legionnaires will not squander their money, but will make good use of it.

Department officials, Commander Schick said, now are giving their attention to the plans for payment of the bonus.

Plan Temporary Certificates.
Because some veterans are in urgent need of funds, Harry A. Newby, Judge advocate of the American Legion, has conferred with the service recognition board members regarding the possibility of issuance of "temporary certificates" which may be cashed immediately at the banks.

Provision for temporary certificates would make payment of bonus claims possible within ten days or two weeks, according to Mr. Newby. "All of the legal technicalities have been brushed aside by the decision of the Supreme court and I can see no reason why the banks should refuse to pay on temporary certificates," Mr. Newby said.

Veteran I. C. Engineer Dies.

Danville.—James Grady, sixty-seven, senior engineer on the Rantoul division of the Illinois Central railway, died suddenly. He was taken ill at the supper table. Grady had run an engine on the Rantoul division, formerly known as the West Lebanon and Le Roy railway, having been employed by the late Benjamin F. Gifford to run a work train. The line extended from West Lebanon, Ind., to Le Roy, Ill., and was a narrow gauge line until purchased ten years ago by the Central. A widow, two daughters and three sons survive. One of the latter, James, resides in Chicago.

St. Louis After Illinois Business.

Springfield.—One hundred business men of St. Louis, Mo., will make a trip across Illinois next month on a good-will tour. The party, traveling in a special car, will make night stops in Illinois at Springfield, Peoria, Danville, Cairo and Terre Haute, Ind. Concerts will be given by a brass band that will accompany the party. The trip, which will continue six days, is an annual event revived last year after a lapse during the war.

Egypt Bootleggers Busy.

Cairo.—Bootlegging flourishes as the bay tree throughout southern Illinois and it would require "1,000,000 men to stop it," in the opinion of W. O. Potter, United States district attorney for the Eastern district of Illinois, who was here on court business. "In Williamson county alone there are 1,000 stills," said Mr. Potter.

Noted Teacher Is Dead.

Danville.—Prof. William E. Williams, more than fifty years a prominent teacher, a veteran of the Civil war and of the Indian campaigns, is dead at the National Soldiers' home. He was born in Ohio. He served in Company K of the Seventh Indiana volunteers.

Illinois S. of A. R. Organize.

Urbana.—The Illini Sons of the American Revolution will organize the first university chapter in the United States and will elect officers. The Illini chapter is staging a race with the University of Pennsylvania to establish the first university branch of the society.

Many Fires in Chicago.

Chicago.—All records were broken in the fire alarm department Thursday when in the hours from 9 a. m. to midnight over 230 alarms were turned in. Previous records dated mostly from such days as the Fourth of July and were in the neighborhood of 220.

Women to Rule Thebes.

Thebes.—A woman's ticket of four was victorious in the election here. It is said to be the first instance in which a complete slate of women has been chosen to run a town in the United States.

Glen Eilyn Girl Honored.

Rockford.—Miss Leonore Pelham of Glen Eilyn, a member of the senior class at Rockford college, has been awarded a scholarship for graduate study in the history department of the University of Illinois.

CULLOM CLIPPINGS

(Mostly from the Chronicle)

Mrs. P. J. Cook and sister, Mrs. Frank Weibel, of Hammond, Ind., spent last Thursday in Chatsworth visiting friends. Mrs. Weibel was a resident of Chatsworth a good many years ago.

E. H. Stieger has traded his new radio outfit to Lester Clark for the latter's Ford sedan, and Lester is enjoying the advantage of radio at his country home.

The two school elections held in Cullom recently were very quiet. Ed. Amaler was elected director of district 276 to succeed himself. Fred Shapland was elected school trustee. The latter is a township office.

Earl Cook, who has been driving a Yellow Cab in Chicago for several years has returned home and will manage an oil station in Kempton for an independent oil company. Earl says taxi cab driving pays pretty well if you hustle but the danger is too great.

Two children of Mr. and Mrs. William Corkill, who live northeast of Cullom, died last week from pneumonia, William H., aged 14 years, died Wednesday morning and Thursday morning, Eugene, aged 8 months, passed away. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon, both being buried in one casket.

Rex Howard, a former Cullom boy, has forsaken orchestral work for the time being and is now an employe of the state of Illinois. He has been appointed a chemist in the division of highways and took up his new duties at Springfield Monday. Mr. Howard is a graduate chemist. His orchestra has broken up, some members returning to Pontiac and others going to take up chautauqua work for the summer months.

The Vrabilk-Kerous-Golosinec Co. (we dare you to pronounce it), a Chicago commission firm, writes that one of their egg candlers found a lady's wedding ring in a case of eggs received from N. Rosen last week. While Mr. Rosen buys eggs from dealers all over this territory, it is probable that this particular case of eggs came from Charlotte, Cullom or Buckingham. The company will be glad to return the ring if the owner will write them, giving a description of it. Their address is 724 West Randolph Street, Chicago.

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership. During the past years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little. Why not start today? Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. We will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you to get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

She then taught for one year in one of the grades in this place, then entered Normal University for a short time, when she was forced to give up her school work and return to her home on account of poor health. She was a devoted member of the M. E. church and active in every way for the furtherance of every good cause. Tho of a quiet retiring disposition her intelligence was of a high order. She leaves beside many sorrowing relatives, a host of friends, who regret her passing. The funeral services were held Monday at 2 p. m. in the M. E. church, Rev. Snedaker, of Saunemin, and Rev. Benjamin, of this place having charge. The floral offerings were beautiful and profuse. Rev. Snedaker's text was from Psalm 17-15, "I shall be satisfied when I awake with Thy likeness." A quartet composed of Medames Fun and White and Messrs. Waterson and McLain furnished music. Mr. Waterson also sang "When Jesus Reigns Supreme" as a solo.
