Letter from the Board

The next five years mark an exciting chapter in the history of Baker Free Library. It will be a time of intense development and growth—expanding the scope and relevancy of our programs and services. 110 years of facility improvements will culminate in a stunning exterior space that the whole community can enjoy. Baker Free Library will continue to provide Bow with all that is best in library resources; however, the library will also confirm its place as the hub of culture, arts, and lifelong learning in the community.

The Library Trustees would like to express their sincerest gratitude to all those who participated in our strategic plan focus groups, one-on-one conversations, and surveys.

The Library Trustees wish to thank Deb Hoadley, of Hoadley Consulting, for facilitating the trustee and staff strategic plan retreat.

History of the Library

In 1912, Congressman Henry M. Baker, cousin of Mary Baker Eddy, donated $10,000 and the land next to his family home on South Street to the Town of Bow for the creation of a public library. William H. McLean and his associates built Baker Free Library in the neoclassical style—École des Beaux-Arts. This architectural firm built more than thirty libraries in the New England area between 1905 and 1915, including many beautiful libraries in New Hampshire. Baker Free Library was completed and dedicated at the present site in 1914. Among historical buildings in Bow, Baker Free Library holds a special place. The Library has been an important part of the community's cultural life for 110 years. With incredible support from the community, Baker Free Library has expanded into the exceptional facility that it is today.

In 1967, an addition was completed and served the needs of the growing Bow community for 30 additional years. In September 1999, the first floor of the 1967 addition was demolished to make way for the current addition and renovation of the original building. The Library's usable public space expanded by 5,200 square feet to a total of 9,333 square feet. On October 21, 2000, the new addition and renovated original building were rededicated. The facility provides seating for groups and individual study, public access to the Internet, and a collection of over 45,000 items.

In 2008, the library trustees and staff made a concerted effort to obtain community feedback about the potential uses for the unfinished lower level space in the library building. After numerous surveys and focus groups, plans were developed for meeting space, technology space, and storage of historic Bow materials. The library trustees committed to raising half of the project costs, with the other half obtained through town warrant.

In 2015, Phase 1 of the project was completed (encompassing the 1967 Lower Level spaces) and in 2017 Phase II was completed (the 2000 addition Lower Level spaces). This project allowed approximately 6,900 square feet of basement space to be converted to usable community space. Averaging 40 rentals per month, the Lower Level rooms have become a popular resource within the Town of Bow.

The Library Today

Improvements to the facility during the last strategic plan period included:

01 A Revitalized Children's Section

The Children's Section features new furniture and interactive play spaces for our youngest patrons.

A New Art Gallery 02

The Art Gallery provides artists from all over the state the opportunity to showcase their talent to the community.

03 Installation of Generator

This project now establishes the Lower Level as an emergency shelter for the community.

In 2023, the library trustees approved a landscape plan to create beautiful, functional, and versatile outdoor spaces.

Over the past 110 years, Baker Free Library has preserved its architectural heritage while expanding its horizons.

The original 1914 building remains the cornerstone upon which Baker Free Library has built its exceptional facility. The history of the facility's development is echoed by the consistent expansion and improvement in the library's collection, services, and human resources. As we look forward to the 300th anniversary of the Town of Bow, the Baker Free Library of today is poised to deliver outstanding access to information, collections, and programs to the whole community.

Baker Free Library has reestablished itself as a community hub following the closure and limited services in 2020 due to COVID19.

The number of visitors to the library has doubled from 2020

Circulation of children's material has increased by 75%.

Participation in library programs has quadrupled over the last three years.

Adult circulation has increased by 50%

Determining Strategic Priorities for the Future

Following the recommendation of the New Hampshire State Library and Hoadley Consulting, Baker Free Library utilized Joy L. Fuller's Strategic Planning for Public Libraries to identify the best practices for conducting a data collection plan. In order to ensure that the future of the Library satisfies the needs of the community it serves, the Library conducted a Community Needs Survey during the months of February through May 2023 (240 respondents), a follow-up survey in July 2023 (126 respondents), and a variety of focus groups and one-on-one conversations throughout that same period.

The Strategic Plan Leadership Team consisting of the Library Director, the Trustee Chair, the Youth Services Librarian, and the Technical Services Librarian executed the data collection plan. The Leadership Team sought to define the current reality of Bow and the Library as well as create a vision for the future of both. The information gathered identified the following top five library services:

- Supporting early childhood literacy.
- Providing a comfortable and welcoming physical space.
- Supporting adult life-long learning.
- Supporting students with their learning.
- Supporting arts and culture in the community.

On July 28, 2023, the Library Trustees and the Library Staff met to review the recommendations of the Leadership Team and the Community Needs Survey. Deb Hoadley of Hoadley Consulting facilitated the meeting. The goal of this meeting was to establish the top strategic priorities, develop accompanying goals and objectives, and to create a new mission statement:

“Baker Free Library provides relevant and reliable resources to support educational, cultural, and information needs for the whole community.”

Additionally, Baker Free Library adopted a new tagline for its visual identity:

The Library Trustees and Staff feel confident that by focusing on the following four strategic priorities the desired outcome of a community-centered strategic plan for the Library will be achieved...
