Library Director's Report
January 19, 2017

We received the Library's first quarterly disbursement before the end of the year! It was deposited on Tuesday, January 3rd.

The library flooded on Wednesday, January 4th. It appears to have been caused by the rain not being absorbed by the frozen ground. The meeting room, hallway, and book sale room downstairs were affected. The carpet absorbed the bulk of the water, lessening the potential damage. ECLT Thomas moved soaked materials, drying out those that could be dried, and disposing of what couldn't be saved. I mopped up what could be mopped, used Trustee Owens' shopvac to get as much water out of the carpet as I could, and ran Trustee Owens' dehumidifier for three days to dry things up. As a result of the flood, the floor tiles have begun to lift. Ed from Ed's Flooring came on Tuesday, January 10th to do an estimate for the replacement of the floor, and again on Wednesday, January 18th to provide floor samples. Stanley Steemer came on Saturday, January 14th to clean the story time rug. Following the flooring estimate and cost of the carpet cleaning, the Board of Trustees and I will decide whether or not to file an insurance claim.

We had our monthly staff meeting on January 6th.
