Register for 500 Books Before Middle School in the New Year

Do you have an elementary age child? We are introducing our newest reading program, 500 Books Before Middle School! This is a self-paced program with no end date except the child's first day of middle school. Participants will receive a reading record to track each book read and free book to start the program. Reading together, graphic novels and even audiobooks count toward the end goal! Each time participants read fifty books, they can bring their reading record to the library to earn a special reward! Registration and more information will be available in the New Year at the Library Circulation Desk.
