LIBRARY NEWS AND EVENTS

Window Restoration

Keeping an old building in good shape can be an adventure! On September 3, restoration work will begin on the windows in the 1907 portion of the building. We are very excited to be moving ahead with this project, which was scheduled two years ago. Vendors who work on restoring historical details are in high demand so we are lucky to have a highly qualified company able to make time for us this year.

Nothing is changing - they're going to be replacing rotten and damaged pieces of the woodwork and fixing the mechanisms that allow the windows to open. The result will be better looking, more energy efficient windows that we can actually use! However, there will be some short-term interruptions. The restoration company will need to do some offsite work, so the windows will be boarded up for approximately 6-8 weeks. The Walker and Reading Rooms, along with some staff offices, will be unusable for at least the first week or so of the work, possibly longer. We will keep you up to date on what spaces are available as we know more.

TRIVIA NIGHT

New England Natives with the Center for Wildlife (Adults Only) - August 21

On Wednesday, August 21 at 6:00 p.m., the Center for Wildlife will be at the Kennebunk Free Library with some of their non-releasable animal ambassadors for an adults-only educational program. Get to know these beautiful animals and the amazing work that the Center for Wildlife does every day, while sipping beer in our cozy Parsons Reading Room. This program is restricted to adults ages 21 and up.

Focusing on animals that live in New England, we will provide an in-depth introduction to the unique differences between raptors, reptiles, and mammals. Do snakes have fur? Do rabbits have scales? Are birds "cold-blooded"? Why do opossums have pouches? How do each of these animal groups adapt to our changing seasons? Using our amazing non-releasable animal ambassadors and interactive displays, the answers to these and other questions will be revealed. This hour long program will connect the audience with these beautiful ambassadors of their species as well as provide their natural and personal histories and empower audience members to help to steward the environment that we all share.

The Center for Wildlife is a nonprofit wildlife rehabilitation organization in Cape Neddick, ME that cares for over 2,400 injured and orphaned wildlife every year. Thirty years since its inception, the Center for Wildlife is the largest wildlife medical facility in northern New England, serving a 100-mile radius in southern Maine and New Hampshire. "The Center for Wildlife's Vision is to instill a sense of understanding, responsibility, and compassion for our natural world leading to a society connected to nature and empowered to take action, and we do this through conservation medicine, environmental education, community empowerment, and advocacy."

Die Well Death Education - August 26

Join us at Kennebunk Free Library on Monday, August 26, 2024 from 6:00 - 7:30 p.m. for the third session in the Die Well Death Education Series with host Leona Oceania. You are welcome to attend one or all of the sessions - no registration is required.

Session Four is: The Importance of Legacy Work: What to Do, and Where to Start - Writing Your Own (or Someone Else's) Obituary.

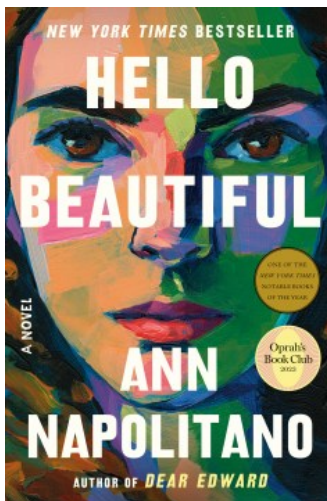

Legacy work is not about dying and death, it is about life and living; and creating your own legacy for your family, friends, and loved ones. Only YOU can tell your story, expound your personal wisdom, and express your feelings to and about others. It makes sense to start this sooner than later; preferably before you are dying. We will discuss different methods of documenting your legacy, including several prompt questions, etc.

Relying heavily on James R. Hagerty's book, Yours Truly: An Obituary Writer's Guide to Telling Your Story, we will discuss tips for telling your own story and preserving your personal history in a meaningful and engaging way in your obituary.

"Whatever your age or health, an inventory of your life so far can help you decide if you're on the path you intended, and if you aren't, lead you to another." – James R. Hagerty *Individually wrapped, homemade skull cakelets will be provided.

Fiction Book Discussion - August 27

Join us on Tuesday, August 27 at 1:00 p.m. to discuss Hello Beautiful by Ann Napolitano. Because of the current interruption in interlibrary loan services, KFL will have limited copies to borrow.

"Napolitano (Dear Edward) explores the meaning of love and family with this striking story of four Chicago sisters and the young man who enters their lives. William Waters, a basketball player from outside Boston, enrolls at Northwestern in 1978 on an athletic scholarship. After he starts dating fellow student Julia Padavano, he's embraced by Julia's three younger sisters—Sylvie, a romantic searching for a great love affair; Cecelia, an aspiring artist; and Cecelia's earnest and quiet twin, Emeline—and is delighted to find a loving and loud family so different from his own, his parents having grown taciturn after his older sister's death years before. William and Julia marry, while the unmarried Cecelia gets pregnant at 17, Sylvie presses on with a job at a library, and Emeline works at a daycare where she fosters a crush on a coworker. After one character attempts suicide, the bonds of the expanding family are tested, and the Padavano women reexamine the limits of how much they're willing to sacrifice. The author breathes great life into her characters, and brings insight into their quiet moments as they gradually come into their own. This will move readers. "- Publishers Weekly

SPEERS GALLERY

August Artist: Laima Vince

The Speers Gallery at the Kennebunk Free Library presents the exhibit "Whimsical Works on Paper" by Laima Vince. The exhibit runs August 2-26 with an opening reception on Saturday, August 3 from 11:00 am - 12:45 pm.

Laima is an artist, teacher and literary translator based in Kennebunk, Maine and Vilnius, Lithuania. She has artistic training from the School of Visual Arts, Rutgers University, Hunter College, Columbia University, and the University of Southern Maine. She has exhibited in both Europe and the US. Her exhibit in Kennebunk features big, colorful paintings done in oil and in gouache.

Regarding the "whimsical" part of her exhibit title, Laima says "Through imagination, the artist lives on in the world of childhood, even as an adult. The stories, dreams, fears, and joys experienced in childhood live on inside the artist's mind and become real again on the canvas or on a sheet of paper. This exhibit of paintings leads the viewer inside the landscape of imagination of my inner child. The mystical and magical characters in these paintings are images that I remember from fairy tales, stories, folk myths, and my dreams."

Kennebunk Free Library is pleased to showcase this fun and unique exhibit.

The public is invited to view the exhibit in the library's Speers Gallery from August 2-26 at 112 Main St., Kennebunk, Maine during regular library hours when the gallery is not in use for library programs. Please check the library website for current hours and gallery access, www.kennebunklibrary.org.

A MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

is reading to her!

I wanted to use this opportunity to update everyone on our 2025-2030 Strategic Plan process. Following data gathering in the winter and spring, including a survey, focus groups, interviews, and KFL Trustee Board retreat, we have created strategic priorities. We are now building on those priorities with objectives and creating measurable goals within our standing committees. After committee feedback, we hope to have a draft plan to present to our full Board by September when we will then create the layout. A deliverable should be in your hands by late fall.

STAFF PICKS

Kat, Substitute Library Assistant

Tomorrow, and Tomorrow, and Tomorrow by Gabrielle Zevin

This July selection for the KFL Adult Book Discussion did not disappoint. When this book came out with little fanfare in 2022, it took word of mouth to be noticed. The author, in her own modern literary style takes the reader into a world that in my case, I had never been, gaming and game creation. Complex, interweaving, traumatic and poetic at times, I enjoyed every chapter. I loved the character development, even the bit players. I wanted to shake the protagonists Sadie and Sam as they let miscommunication and assumptions hurt and divide them. My favorite read this year so far. (Available as a book from KFL, audio through Libby.)

Frozen River by Ariel Lawhon

Based on the diary entries of Martha Ballard, a midwife in the 18th century in Maine, the author tells a good story. A murder and a rape reveal the ugly underside of a Puritan community in what was then part of Massachusetts. Don't look for literary writing but I did enjoy the view into life at that time in our history. (Available book from KFL, audio and book through Libby.)

The Women by Kristin Hannah

Fans of Kristin Hannah will love it and haters will hate it. People like me that appreciate her ability to tell a story will like it. As a child during the Vietnam War, I was very interested to hear about what was happening "in country" while we heard the news that we were winning and nightly body counts. What the government wanted us to hear. The reality that the combat nurses and doctors faced is tragically explained as well as the trauma of coming home and being shamed and disrespected. (Available as a book and audio cds from KFL, audio and book through Libby.)
