

HAYDENVILLE (HIGH STREET) CEMETERY, HAYDENVILLE, MASSACHUSETTS

Genealogical data transcribed from the stones by Eric W. Weber, c. 2002

This cemetery is divided into four quadrants: N and S by a central roadway, and E and W by the line between its original area and a "new" area which was added about 1880. The latter line is not obvious on the ground. On the north side of the road, the "new" area begins with a lot containing the stones of the Charles Holmes Wheeler family. South of the road, the same line continues. A long row of Purrrington family stones set flush with the ground marks the line on each side of the road; these stones are just inside the "new" area.

THESE ADDITIONAL HSC BURIALS ARE LISTED IN B. S. JOHNSON'S RECORD (no gravestones or inscriptions are found for them)

Note: the Johnson Record generally gives places of birth and residence for each person buried and the place of birth of each of his or her parents. That data does not appear below.

Consult the Johnson Record (as transcribed by Dr. C. H. Wheeler in his "Haydenville Records 1") scrapbook to obtain it.

Notes concerning the Johnson Record (JR):

The "JR" column above indicates whether there is additional information in the Johnson Record about the person buried.

"Y" indicates that more information can be found in the JR.

A blank in this column indicates that the person died after the conclusion of the Johnson Record and does not appear in it.

"N*" indicates that although the person died during the period covered by the Johnson Record, his or her burial does not appear in the JR.

This may mean any of several things: a) Johnson neglected to record the burial, or b) the burial in HSC didn't take place until after the period covered by the Johnson Record, and may have been a re-burial after removal from another burial site; or c) the person was never actually buried here, and the "gravestone" is only a memorial stone (the Civil War veteran Porter brothers in Lot 6 may be examples of either b or c).

Several of the Loomis family members and relatives now buried in Lot 128 were originally buried in Lot 56. When Byron Loomis, a member of this family, sold the land for the cemetery's expansion about 1880, he evidently reserved Lot 128 to accommodate his whole clan — including those who had been buried previously, whose remains were then moved into the new lot. Several other lots also seem to have changed hands at one time or another, with an ensuing removal of older burials and reuse of the lots for new ones.
