Dangerous Cold

The National Weather Service has issued a wind chill warning for the entire state, currently in effect until 1 a.m. Sunday. Friday’s wind gusts could be 40 mph, bringing the wind chills down to -30 or -40 by Friday night. There is also the possibility of power outages. Even colder wind chills as low as -50 are possible overnight into early Saturday as actual air temperatures will dip into the teens and 20s below zero.

In preparation for the coldest air since 2016, the New Hampton Fire Department is prepared to respond to residents in need. If you or anyone you know, has a heat related issue of any kind during this extreme cold please dial 911 and the department will take the appropriate steps to ensure you are warm and safe.

Plan ahead to minimize or eliminate the need for outdoor activity. If you do need to go out dress in layers, stay dry and out of the wind as much as possible. 40% of your body heat can be lost from your head, so wear a hat, and cover your mouth with a gater or scarf to protect your lungs from frigid air.
